What People Are Saying

Who knows what might happen if churches and small groups and families were to watch these videos together, open to God's leading for going and sending? It is a risk to watch them. But the motivation is Gospel grace, not guilt. I cannot recommend too highly these DVDs. - Justin Taylor, Between Two Worlds

This series of presentations gives us a non-hyped view of amazing faithfulnesses—amazing faithfulness of cross-cultural Christian workers, of pastors and, most of all, of God. They are exciting, humbling, faith-building, and prayer-encouraging. - Mark Dever, Capitol Hill Baptist Church

Beware of watching these Dispatches if you don't like being moved and inspired and shaken out of the ruts of your life. My wife and I were riveted in watching the frontline reports of God's work recorded in the Dispatches from the Front. This is the sort of information that builds faith in the present providence of God over his mission, and stirs up action for the sake of lost and hurting people near and far. I would love to see thousands of people mobilized as senders and goers for the sake of the glory of Christ and the relief of suffering on the frontiers, especially eternal suffering. - John Piper, Desiring God
